1. All Soviet bombers left the Tecuci (SY 21) airfield in September 1948.
2. The Soviet units were no longer stationed at the airfield in October 1948. Their present location was not known. Before the units left their officers obtained certificates from the owners of the billets stating that the furniture had not been damaged by Soviet troops.
3. Many Soviet aircraft were stationed at the airfield in November 1949. The planes were probably twin-engine monoplanes with nose wheels and single-engine monoplanes with two-man crews. Training flights were made in formations of eight to ten planes. No Rumanian planes were seen. *
4. Local residents said that the Rumanian Air Force had to evacuate the field for occupation by Soviets.
5. Reconditioning work was being done at airfields in the Tecuci area in May 1950. The number of Soviet troops increased daily. **

Comment. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] the Tecuci airfield was occupied by a Soviet bomber regiment. This report indicates that the Soviet unit left the field in the fall of 1948 but later returned. From the aircraft types observed it is assumed that a bomber regiment equipped with Bostons is still stationed there. The single-engine planes were probably used for training bomber crews. It is not known whether a Rumanian unit was stationed at the field.
